point what good will it do them? He also said he favored allowing our officers to visit the camps without pay.

A Republican Revolt.

The World's Washington special thinks the revolt in the Republican camp is rapidly gaining strength. Patterson told the President to-day he thought he had made a mistake in South Carolina matters.

Sensational.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The stories that Blaine and others are organizing an opposition to the President's Southern policy are largely sensational, and unauthorized. Martin I. Townsend flatly denies the statement that he is preparing a letter of such character.

Cameron and Grant.

Cameron accompanies Grant to Europe.

Federal Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—John G. Griffer, of Nebraska, has been appointed secretary of Arizona, and J. P. Boreman associate justice of the supreme court of Utah.

The Treasury Robbery Case.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The jury in the case of W. H. Orman, charged with the larceny of a $7,000 package from the treasury department and with receiving stolen money, after being out since 4:30 P. M., Tuesday last, failed to agree, and this afternoon were discharged until Monday. It is reported they were ready to give a verdict of not guilty on the first count, but were unable to agree on the second.

Postal Card Printing.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The postoffice department has to day sent out a new advertisement asking proposals until noon of May 16th for furnishing postal cards during four years, commencing the 1st of next July. The number issued during the past fiscal year was about 160,000,000. It is expected the issue for the current fiscal year will be about 180,000,000. The number required during the next contract term will probably reach one billion at least, but the contractor must furnish all that may be required, without reference to this estimate.

A. H. Stephens still Lives.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Representative Stephens of Georgia continues to recover. He speaks hopefully of the future of the country and thinks the President will carry out his policy of peace and good will to the South. He believes the solution of the South Carolina troubles will lead to similar results in Louisiana. By recognizing the Nicholls government the policy of the President, he thinks, will restore peace to all parts of the country.

LOUISIANA.

An Eventful Day.

NEW ORLEANS, April 12.—This has been an eventful day with the commission. There was much discussion among themselves, without any result that they were willing to communicate to the press. The only delegation received was a delegation of sugar planters in the interest of the Nicholls government, headed by ex-Justice Wyley, of the Kellogg supreme court. The commissioners declined to state whether they had received any supplemental instructions from the President. They also declined to indicate any time for the close of their investigations.

Messrs. Ray, Leonard and Barch, of the Packard committee, handed into the commission a ponderous list of officers who had qualified in the Packard Secretary of State's office, accompanied by the certificate of Emile E. Honore, Packard Secretary of State, showing that of 1,132 officers commissioned by the Governor, 623 whose names are given in the accompanying list have filed their oath of office according to law. The remaining 405 are justices of the peace and constables, who have not made a practice of filing an oath of office with the Secretary of State. It is understood the commissioners' session, which lasted till 3 this morning, was considering a message to the President. The tenor of the message is not positively known, but it is believed it notifies the President that they had concluded their investigation under present instructions, and suggesting that they were ready to receive any further instructions the President desired to give.

Political Items.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The New York Herald's Washington special thinks Randall will be re-elected Speaker without doubt. There promises to be a lively contest for doorkeeper.

The President's policy in the South will be to appoint Old Line Whigs, everything being equal.

The Louisiana commission is divided on the subject of a new legislature, and have asked new instructions of the President.

Nicholls will Concede Nothing.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Louisiana commission, in a dispatch to the President, gives as a result of their conference with Packard, Nicholls and other interested parties, that the Nicholls party are not disposed to make concessions, but will maintain their ground in the belief that they will ultimately have full possession of the State government.

Packard's Position.

Packard's party is ready to enter into an arrangement for a joint legislature to determine the pending questions, but this being rejected by the Nicholls' party the Packard party ask the President to determine which is the legal government. The President declines to act upon the request, as under the present circumstances he would not be justified in making a decision. Owing to the disagreement of the Nicholls and Packard parties and the unpromising prospect of an accommodation the commissioners ask for further instructions which will be sent after a cabinet meeting.

The Additional Instructions.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The cabinet adjourned without coming to a conclusion as to additional instructions to the Louisiana commission. The subject will be resumed at an adjourned meeting.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

The War Cloud Thickens.

LONDON, April 12.—The Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs that the latest news is rather worse. Russia now intimates that it is now useless for Turkey to send an envoy to St. Petersburg.

The Turkish Reply.

LONDON, April 12.—The Times' Berlin dispatch reports that the Turkish reply has given rise to a fresh exchange of opinions between the Powers, and further negotiations are expected.

The Armistice Prolonged but War Certain.

A special from Pera says no positive reply on the subject of the Turkish circular has yet been received from Russia. A further prolongation of the armistice with Montenegro for ten days has been arranged. A Vienna special says this movement has lost all hope that peace will be maintained. From official source I learn that the Turks have determined to relieve Nicsic in a few days, which will be the sign for the outbreak of hostilities. There has been great excitement in Vienna all day. Everybody apprehends that if war breaks out Austria will sooner or later be involved in the struggle.

Turkey's Side Fights.

LONDON, April 1[illegible].—A dispatch from Scutari says fighting has been going on in the Meridit country since Sunday, Dervish Pasha having rejected all propositions. The first day the Turks were beaten, but the second day they captured a position of Muela near Scutari. The result of the fighting is unknown.

Bismarck's Advice.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says it is stated that the Turkish Charge d'Affairs at Berlin has telegraphed Safvet Pasha that Bismarck advised Turkey to reject the Russian demands.

The Question in the British Parliament.

LONDON, April 13.—In the House of Lords this afternoon the Porte's circular in reply to the protocol was laid on the table. Lord Derby said he regretted to say it was not of such a character as would lead to a peaceful settlement. Earl Granville gave notice he would call attention to the subject next Monday in House of Commons. Sir Stafford Northcote denied the statement of Brussels Nord of April 11, that Lord Derby had written to Constantinople, categorically declaring that the Porte must in no way rely upon England. Marquis Hartington complained of the meagerness of the papers presented since the protocol. He says the papers produced contain much that is highly unsatisfactory and appear to make England directly responsible for the present situation. The attitude of England was not justified by the papers before the House. If there is justification there is nothing in the papers to show it.

Grave News from Turkey.

BELGRADE, April 13.—It is stated in official circles here that the Turkish army is suffering greatly from want of provisions, and at some places is threatened with starvation. It is fully expected that there will be massacres of Christians when the Turkish soldiers are reduced to desperation by privation.

Official Rejection of the Protocol.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 13.—Montenegro delegates had a final interview to-day with Safvet Pasha, who declared that the Porte rejected the protocol. Subsequently the Grand Vizier telegraphed Prince Nicholas that the armistice had ended and would not be prolonged.

Russia's Action.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—A grand council of war is being held. The cabinet regards the Turkish circular as a complete rejection of the protocol, and therefore declines to send a special plenipotentiary to St. Petersburg, as further negotiation is useless. Montenegro will defer hostilities until Russia makes a final decision. The minister of war has ordered the calling out of the entire military district of St. Petersburg of all soldiers on furlough before the 22d inst.

The several Russian consuls in Turkey have received orders to prepare to leave the country.

Turkish War Movements.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 13.—The Levant Herald announces that reinforcements have been sent to the Turkish frontier. Six men of war will be ordered to Sulina on the Black Sea, and five frigates to cruise in the Mediterranean.

WEST INDIES.

Cuban Insurrection.

HAVANA, April 13.—Gen. Martinez Campos has commenced a forward movement into the central department. The Cinco Vilas are sufficiently pacified to allow his forward movement, leaving part of the troops behind for any emergency.

Plenty of the Weed.

There has been a splendid tobacco crop.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

About to Resign.

LONDON, April 13.—The Globe states that John O'Connor Power intends to resign his seat in parliament and settle in America.

Cable Rates Reduced.

LONDON, April 13.—It is announced that on May 1st next the tariff on Atlantic cables will be increased three shillings per word.

Heavy Damages Sued for.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Mary E. Donohue has brought suit for damages of $100,000 against Lucky Baldwin for seduction of her daughter, Lennie C. McCormick. The parties became acquainted when the girl and mother were employed in sewing for Mr. Baldwin while the hotel was being fitted up. Mrs. Donohue is reported to be a respectable, hard working woman. The daughter is rather volatile and fond of admiration, but hitherto had borne a good reputation. Baldwin alleges that the suit is brought without cause, and for the purpose of extortion.

A Fifty Mile Ride.

The fifty mile ride between Major Pico and J. P. Smith, at Oakland Park yesterday, was won by the latter in two hours and six minutes, beating Pico one minute and forty-seven seconds.

Terrible Mining Accident.

SMARTSVILLE, April 13.—At 1 P. M. yesterday a bank in the Blue Point claim fell without warning, covering up and killing outright seven men and wounding six more, some of them badly. The names of the killed are B. F. Henderson, Jas. H. Monk, Michael Sweney, David Hathan, Michael McWilliams, Thomas McDonald and Samuel Seeman. The injured are Michael and Thomas Conroy, Michael Flanigan, Jas. Kelly, Robert Hamilton and Michael Brosnan. The injured were taken out and cared for as soon as possible and then water was turned on to wash out the bodies, which was not accomplished until late in the afternoon to-day. Business is entirely suspended to pay respect to the funeral obsequies which take place this forenoon from Protestant and Catholic churches, and is attended by people for miles around. Only two men escaped without injury out of fifteen.

A PAINFUL ALTERNATIVE.—Mr. James Redfield, who has studied Southern politics as no other man has done, writes thus to the Cincinnati Commercial:

The question which President Hayes and the American people have to face is whether to keep up indecent and corrupt governments in South Carolina and Louisiana, by the use of troops, or withdraw the troops and allow the white people to have decent and honest government of their own ruling, but at the expense of impartial suffrage. That is precisely the case before the country to-day, and there is no use of fooling away time on side issues. Come to the point at once. Which do you want, a turbulent, corrupt, indecent, imbecile, and good for nothing government, such as we have had in South Carolina and Louisiana for some years, on the one hand; or impartial suffrage stamped out in the process of improvement, as has been done in Georgia and Mississippi?

HIDE AND SEEK.—The Walla Walla Union is responsible for this:

Last Sunday a well-known citizen took the youngest of his children to church. When the minister remarked, "Let us pray," the father bowed his head and put his hand over his eyes. To the child this was the signal for the beginning of a favorite game. So glancing all around the church and finding the balance of the congregation in the attitude of prayer, she sang out at the top of her shrill voice, "All hid, papa." The effect on father and congregation can be better imagined than described.

The greatest triumph of modern science is the splendid induction that all the forces are correlative and indestructible. Not an impulse of motion, of light, or heat, or any force is ever lost. It may be communicated from one body to another, or transmitted into some other form of force, or become for a time latent or imperceptible; but it always exists, and is reclaimable back again into the same, in motive and quantity, from which it started.

THE DAVIS TRAGEDY.

Second Day—Forenoon.

Court commenced pursuant to adjournment.

MR. SAMUEL HUNTER

Was called and testified: Fifty-seven years old; reside 4 miles from Portland; about one mile from the Red House on the Boone Ferry road; know Davis by sight; was not acquainted with him personally; he was chopping wood out on Mr. Rohr's farm; know where the cabin in which Davis was killed; cabin stands about 40 or 50 rods from my house; cabin was not in sight of my house; a small hill intervened; had to go some distance from my house before you could see the cabin.

I was stopping at my house on the night of March 2d; we went to bed on that night about 15 minutes to 11; could not really say when I last saw T. D. Davis; heard him chopping wood every day; it might have been a week or two; first discovered that the cabin was burned and Davis murdered about 5 o'clock on morning of March 3d. Thomas told me that two masked men had entered the cabin in the night and had murdered Davis. Did not see or hear anything of the murder until next morning. I have two dogs which are very watchful. Sometime during the evening remember to have heard the dogs bark. [Witness describes minutely the direction of the roads in the vicinity of the cabin]. The road runs within about 40 rods of where the cabin stood. The logging road of which Mr. Thomas spoke yesterday in his testimony, is east of the cabin. Logging road is about ¼ of a mile from where the cabin stood. Logging road comes into the macadamized road about 3 miles and a quarter from Portland. Three mile post is 4 or 5 hundred yards beyond the Red House.

Cross-examined — Know Mr. Thomas, but not so well as Davis; used to see him pass my place to and fro; did not know him personally; used to simply pass the time of day with him whenever we met.

CAPT. H. CUSHING

Testified: Reside at the Red House on the macadamized road. I was at my place of residence on the 2d day of March; do not know Wm. C. Morand; saw two men on the afternoon of the 2d going up the steps of the Fulton House; it was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon; one of the men had a black carpet sack; cannot describe the dress worn by the person who carried the carpet sack; did not notice him carefully; he laid the carpet sack down at the door; it appeared to be empty; the men remained in the Fulton House only a few minutes, and then came out again; paid no particular attention to the color of the clothes worn by these men.

Cross examination — Neither Thomas nor Davis ever stopped at my house that I remember. My house stands on the east side of the macadamized road. The county road forks opposite the Fulton House. That house stands directly in front of my place. It is a public house.

W. H. YOUNG

Testified: Reside at the south toll gate on the macadamized road—the toll gate near the Red House. Knew T. D. Davis in his life time; I know Douglass Thomas also. I saw Mr. Davis for the last time alive about a quarter past five in the afternoon of March 2d. He was engaged in sawing wood when I last saw him. Thomas was with him at the time; was on the premises (Rohr's farm) on the morning of the 3d about 7 o'clock; also the following Sunday; know the Hunter logging road which has been spoken of. I made an examination of the premises on the Sunday following; looked for tracks leading to and from the cabin. Several persons were with me at the time. We searched through the woods and adjacent thicket for traces of the murderers. Mr. Thomas was with us. He took us to the place where he said he was kept guarded after Davis was murdered. We went from where the cabin stood down to the county road, making a careful examination of the ground. The ground immediately around the cabin is about the center of the dividing line of a ridge. It was impossible to track any one close around the cabin; the ground was hard and dry; ground is covered with chips, rendering tracking very difficult.

Cross examination—I live with the toll-gate keeper; was in my house on the evening of the 2d; first discovered the stocking tracks made by Thomas about four rods from the cabin; the tracks did not lead directly toward the city; they were pursuing a very unusual course in coming to Portland. Have known both Davis and Thomas since last December. Davis was a man about 5 feet 7 inches in hight, large and powerfully built; was a quick motioned person, light complexion, hair curly and inclined to be a little gray; wore full beard which was about the same color as his hair; had a quick eye.

The witness drew a diagram showing the direction of the several roads in the vicinity of the cabin, also indicating their points of intersection, convergence and divergence, which he explained in detail to the court and counsel.

SYLVESTER PENNOYER

Testified: Reside in Portland; am a book-keeper by avocation. I am not personally acquainted with W. C. Morand; knew him only when I see him; I paid him off as one of the hands employed at the mill on the last Saturday in February. Do not know whether or not I saw him at the mill after that date; the money which was coming to Morand for a part of a week's work was not paid to him; it was paid to Morand's son either the Tuesday or Wednesday following—about the 6th or 7th of March. The amount due and paid was $7 50. Albert Smith is the time keeper at the mill. That sum would represent four day's work at three-fourths time. I am book-keeper at the mill.

WALTER DANVERS

Testified: Reside in city; know W. C. Morand; have known him well for one and a half years; know his family; he and I often visited each other's house; he was last at my house Thursday night, 9:15 o'clock on March 1st; he stayed at my house about half an hour; I was away when he first came; he took supper at my house that evening; he did not tell me at that time that he was going away.

Cross-examination—Could not state all the conversation which took place that evening; it was about household affairs; nothing whatever was said then, before or since about any difficulty between Woods and Morand; we have never had any conversation upon that subject.

ELMER MORAND,

Am 15 years old; reside in this city; W. C. Morand is my father; I was at home between the hours of 12 o'clock March 2d to the morning of March 3d; I saw the Chief of Police on the morning of the 3d; saw him at home at 5 o'clock in the morning; saw my father previous to that time on Friday morning at 7 o'clock; he told me that morning that he was going to the mines; he did not say what mines; said he was going that (Friday) morning; had no conversation with my father Thursday afternoon or evening; went to the mill Friday morning; he told me to tell them that he would not be there to work; he said he was sick; it was the same conversation we had when he told me he was going to the mines; he told me to tell the people at the mill that he was sick and could not work; my father was not very well.

Cross examination—Lappeus did not tell me what he wanted with my father; saw Lappeus Sunday evening about 8 o'clock; My mother was at home Saturday morning at 5 o'clock; she was not at home Sunday; she was at Dayton; went up there Saturday.

Afternoon.

The counsel for the defense stated on the convening of court that there were several witnesses who resided in Oregon City; that these witnesses were desirous of getting home. If the court would allow them they would examine these witnesses in favor of the defense at that time and allow them to go. Mr. Ball, on the part of the State, said he had no objections.

The first witness called was

MR. E. INSKEEP,

Who testified: Am a painter by occupation; I reside for the present in Oregon City; have lived there about nine or ten weeks; I board at a house called the Barlow House, which is situated about the center of the town, on Main street; I am pretty certain that I have seen Mr. Morand before; his face is familiar; I saw Morand about the 1st of March; I was introduced to Morand at Barlow House one evening; could not state precisely the date; spent about two hours at the hotel in company with him and several others; the room which was to be occupied by Mr. Morand was in the second story of the building, directly opposite the room occupied by myself; some one came to the room between 10 and 11 o'clock in the evening; could not swear positively whether it was Morand or not; the person retired to bed about that time; my room was poorly ventilated, and I believe that I left the door of my bedroom slightly ajar that night; my impression of Mr. Morand was at the time that he was a farmer; there was nothing suspicious about Morand's actions; he appeared very pleasant and genial; here was nothing peculiar about his clothes which attracted my attention at the time.

Witness was shown a diagram of the Barlow House, first and second stories, and explained to the court the position of the room occupied by him and the one supposed to have been occupied by Morand.

Do not remember to have heard any one get up during the night and go out. I went to bed between 10:30 and 11 o'clock; did not go to sleep at once; am nervous, and it requires from a half to three-quarters of an hour before I can get to sleep.

Cross examination—I left the door open at night from mere force of habit; when I occupied that room in the hotel it was my invariable habit to leave my room door ajar; am positive as to the time when I retired to bed that night; I looked at the clock just before retiring; do not think it would be possible for me to get to sleep under thirty minutes; have no positive knowledge that Morand slept in the room opposite mine; I remember the face and name of Morand; positive that I saw him there at that time; never saw Morand at the Barlow House before.

CHAS. BOLDS,

Reside in Oregon City; run a ferry at that place; ferry crosses river opposite Eighth street, in the lower part of the town; commenced running the ferry on the 1st of March; took a man across the river; locked the ferry up that evening, supposing no one would want to cross that night; some one came on the other side of the river and desired to cross; it was about 7 o'clock in the evening when I crossed the man; it was dark at the time; could not distinguish him clearly; think he had a carpet sack in his hand; after crossing to the other side I walked toward the postoffice in company with the person I had ferried; he asked me about the cheapest hotel in the town; think he said he would go to the Barlow House; current in the river at that time quite moderate.

Cross-examination—Could not say whether the person I ferried over is the prisoner at the bar; do not remember his face; could not distinguish features.

MRS. JENNIE DAVIS.

Am wife of Philander Davis; live in Oregon City; my husband keeps the Barlow House; know Morand; have heard of him for about 12 years; saw him in the Barlow House on the evening of March 2d; he came in and called for supper; after supper he went into the sitting room and remained there with a number of others until about 10 o'clock that evening he brought a carpet sack; he left it by the door in the sitting room; saw it there next morning; several persons were in the sitting room during the evening; it was a black oil cloth satchel I think; did not notice it particularly; picked satchel up next morning and looked at it; it was about half full I should think; saw Morand next morning when he was eating his breakfast; it was between half past 6 and 7 o'clock; had on the same coat the next morning that he wore when he came there, did not observe any change in his clothes.

Cross examination—Morand came to the hotel about 7 o'clock; it was after we had had our supper, and the table was cleared away; Morand I think went away from the house about 9 o'clock next morning; remember particularly about the satchel because Morand is a friend of mine; I went to bed that night about 10:30 o'clock; the satchel was in the sitting room the next morning; suppose he did not take it up to his room that night.

MISS SUSAN HICKEY.

Live in Oregon City; I think I have seen Morand before; his face looks familiar to me; think I saw him at the Barlow House about the 1st of March. He came late in the evening, after supper; saw him eating his supper; saw him the next morning; saw them in the sitting room that evening. It was after 10 o'clock when they went to bed that night; the doors of the hotel are always locked on the inside during the night; saw the satchel in the room that night after he went to bed; also the next morning; saw Morand the next morning when he came to bid Mrs. Davis good-bye; slept in the sitting room that night; there was no other carpet sack in the room that night; do not know whether or not there were any transient customers at the hotel on that night; did not pay particular attention to his clothes either that night or the next morning; did not know that the satchel was Morand's. Mrs. Davis said it belonged to Morand; she told me after he had left the room to retire.

Mrs. Jennie Davis was recalled to identify the satchel. I cannot state whether that is the same one that belonged to Morand; it looks like the one at the hotel that night; am not positive about the hat either; Morand was dressed in dark clothes I think; did not observe any change in his clothes; we do not register any names except those who remain longer than one night.

Mr. Bolds was recalled. It is a common thing for a number of boats used by the fishermen about the falls to be left with oars in them and unlocked; have seen boats lying there over night.

OFFICER M'COY.

Am police officer; have acted as deputy sheriff. [Mr. McCoy then gave a brief account of the manner in which he had arrested Morand, the full particulars of which have already been published in the OREGONIAN.] At the time I arrested him he was traveling under the name of Wm. Craig; on the way to this city I asked Morand why he left Portland; he seemed unwilling to talk about it, or to give any reason.

Cross-examination—Three men went into the room at the hotel when I arrested Morand; had a warrant issued by the circuit court for his arrest; we had very little conversation from the time I arrested him until we reached Portland; he asserted his innocence of the murder of Davis; he told me that he had stopped at the Barlow House Friday night, March 2d.

J. H. LAPPEUS

Was recalled.—I know that the satchel is the one turned over to me by Officer McCoy; also the hat and shirt and papers; saw Morand for the first time when he was brought down to Portland; examined everything in the satchel and searched him; I had some talk with him about the murder; he wanted to know when the murder had been committed; when I told him, he said he was innocent of the murder for he said he had stayed all night at Oregon City; told him he had been seen going up the macadamized road; he said he had gone up to Oregon City while on the way there he looked back and saw two men; he was not certain whether they were Chinamen or not; he went on and reached the river after dark; he crossed the river and stopped in Oregon City at the house of a friend; said the young man who traveled with him from Drain to Scottsburg was a friend of his who lived in East Portland; the last night out from Oregon City he said, he stopped at a place about fifteen miles south and east of that place; he then continued on and crossed the river above Eugene City and went on to Drain; Morand said that he knew Davis well; Davis had had some difficulty with Chinamen while engaged in collecting tax from them; he also said that Davis and his former partner, a Mr. Cowan had had some trouble; examined the contents of the satchel when it was first turned over to me; found that they were wet and in a filthy condition; the legs of the pants were soaking wet; looked as if they had been washed; Morand said he had heard of some murder having been committed near Portland after he left; he did not know that Thos. D. Davis had been murdered until he had reached Gardiner; first saw an account of the murder in a paper.

Cross examination—Never saw Morand before he was brought down in custody of Officer McCoy; he was kept in a dark room from Saturday afternoon until the following Monday afternoon; did not expect to receive the reward offered for his arrest; I told him that I thought he was one of the murderers; that if he knew anything about the affair it would be best to tell all he knew that by revealing the name or names of the persons he might save his neck.

W. W. PAGE

Was called to attest to the correctness of a signature attached to an official document signed by W. C. Morand.

F. K. ARNOLD.

Am a merchant in Portland; have been accustomed to examining signatures with a view to determine their correctness. [Two papers were shown witness, who testified that in his judgment the signature attached to one document, and the writing of a letter, found in Morand's satchel at the time of his arrest, was executed by the same person.

J. B. LANE;

Am purser on the steamer Fannie Patton; was acting in that capacity on the 3d of March. I keep a memorandum of the names of those who travel up and down on the steamer. The steamer made a trip to Dayton on the 3d of March; I have examined the book and find the name of Mrs. Morand among the passengers who went up on that date. The boat stopped at Oregon City as she went up, about half an hour; boat landed that morning on the Oregon City side; cannot say from my own personal knowledge that Mrs. Morand was a passenger on that boat on the date mentioned, only from the book.

OREGON.

T. B. Handley has been elected recorder of Hillsboro.

Pacific University has received a new organ, the finest at Forest Grove.

A. B. Colver raised 14,000 bushels of apples on his farm on Coos river last year.

Coos Bay has a steamer each week from San Francisco. Fare, $15; steerage, $10.

The Christian Messenger has resumed publication, and is on a better [illegible] than ever.

Mr. Walker Chrisman, an old citizen of Yamhill, died some days ago. He was 74 years old.

Intimations of the enforcement of the law at Corvallis has caused an exodus of the gamblers.

A letter from Newport, Yaquina, says that place would be an excellent one for a salmon canning establishment.

Logs are now floated down the Calapooia from the mountains to Albany. This opens a supply of first-rate lumber.

T. M. Miller and wife will remove from Albany to Lebanon to take charge of the public school at the latter place.

A colored man named [illegible] James Reid's house [illegible] a few days ago, and stole several articles of value. He has not yet been caught.

The contract for the building of a new jail for Yamhill county was let on [illegible] to Messrs. Donelson and [illegible] Contract price $4,300 [illegible] 050 including three cells.

At Albany, says the Democrat, the river is very low at present—about twenty feet lower than it was this time last year. On the 13th of April of last year it was about twenty-three feet higher than it is now.

The Benton Democrat says a bill was found by the grand jury against Rev. Mr. Godfrey, of Philomath, for grand larceny, in taking some coin which did not justly belong to him, not long since, in that place.

The Grangers of Linn county met at Albany last Monday and elected delegates to the State Grange, which meets at Salem May 22d. The following were chosen: A. D. Michael and wife and F. M. Kisor and wife.

The Lafayette Courier says: Some of the farmers tell us that grain, especially that sown in the fall, will be likely to attain such a rank growth that it will fall over before it arrives at maturity, and be lost. Grain in this section is very rank, and the present beautiful growing weather will help it along amazingly. The farmers complain that there is not enough stock to keep it pastured down.

A letter from Forest Grove to the Independent says: The Grove was alive with immigrants last week, mostly German. They expect to locate in this county, as they can get most any kind of land at fair prices to suit them, better than anywhere else in the State, considering the nearness to market. Considerable land has been sold in township 1 and 2 north, range 3 and 4 west, at $2 50 to $6 per acre, according to location. There are seven families located above Stout's mill, where a year ago there was not one. A great deal of cleaning and fencing is doing. You can see a great opening west of here, where a few years ago it was [illegible] which changes the [illegible] wonderfully. But a few years ago it was thought that it would be 25 years before the hills would be settled; now every vacant claim is taken within 12 miles west of here.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Springfield Republican: Washington is already talking about the re-election of President Hayes. Washington is a good deal of an ass.

Bob Ingersoll wants to "flood the cabins of the freedmen with light." Only Robert does not seem to know which way to turn for light at present.

An old Maine neighbor of Gov. Packard, of Louisiana, says that he was a violent Copperhead at the beginning of the war. With years he has got wisdom.

There is no stringency in language in New Orleans. The Democratic organ there says: "If the status quo is preserved many days longer the next thing it will develop will be hell."

Recently in conversation General Grant said that if he had not kept troops in South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana, the Democrats would have had no trouble in securing all those States.

Epigrammatic remark of the London Saturday Review: "It was not worth while to pass an extraordinary law for the purpose of proving that eight Republicans could outvote seven Democrats."

The Philadelphia Telegraph, a Republican paper, says: The Democrats had it in their power to delay the count until after the 4th of March, and so defeat Mr. Hayes, but they made a party surrender unparalleled in American history. It is manifest they would not have done this under any assurances less strong than they claim were given them.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 14, 1877.

HOW IT LOOKS.

Manifest as is the Republican dissatisfaction in certain quarters with the policy of the administration, it is not going to be easy to alienate the party from the President. Many politicians will stick from present interest, and many who are not politicians will adhere from a profound conviction that the time is ripe for this very change which has begun. It is not possible to produce in the Republican mind, the distrust of Hayes which was instinctively felt toward Johnson when the latter's "policy" began to develop; for Hayes has been bred in the midst of the ideas that created the Republican party, and confidence is not easily shaken, that he firmly attached to them. No suspicion of a purpose to desert or betray them will be at once entertained against him. Yet it would be idle to deny that there is dissatisfaction with his course. It will probably grow more bitter after a while, when Congressmen become fully aware that they cannot handle the "patronage" in a way to strengthen themselves for re-election. When the opposition to the Southern policy will be used to increase the clamor against a President who shows so little regard for "the party." In South Carolina the agony is over, but in Louisiana the end is not yet. Neither Packard nor Nicholls will for a moment consider any arrangement that does not start on the basis that his own claim to be governor shall be recognized; and since this is the sole point in dispute, there seems little prospect of a speedy settlement. Neither of the claimants is yet prepared to open his mind to Dogberry's wisdom, which sets forth an everlasting truth in the declaration that where two persons attempt to ride the same horse one must ride behind.

A TERRIBLE FAMINE.

A frightful famine, of which the telegraph occasionally makes mention, is prevailing in India. In the provinces of Madras and Bombay the effects are especially severe. The fertility of India depends on the rainfall. When this is abundant the land teems with crops far more than sufficient to sustain the enormous population. But when it fails, as it did in 1770, and again in 1875, the suffering is incalculable. The people actually perish by millions. The principal rains are brought by the great monsoon that usually comes in October. Unnumbered reservoirs collect the water, which is used for irrigation, the government superintending the operation and collecting water tax from the cultivators. Under this treatment production has been carried to the highest possible limit, and the supply of food has given life to millions of inhabitants, who, but for this system of irrigation and the products of it, never would have existed. But when the monsoon fails and the rain does not come, cultivation of the land is impossible, and starvation is the lot of millions whom this artificial system has called into being. In the districts now suffering most severely the population numbers more than thirty millions, and it is feared that in spite of the utmost efforts of the government, hundreds of thousands will perish, perhaps even millions. Several months of starvation are yet before the people, for the great rice crop, which is the principal food, will not be gathered till autumn.

The famine in Bengal in 1770 was the most disastrous and terrible recorded in history. Absence of rain was followed by failure of crops; during six months of horror more than ten millions of people perished. Such a calamity appals the imagination; "it is as if the entire population of our greatest States,—man, woman and child,—were to be utterly swept away between now and next October, leaving the region between the Hudson and Mississippi as quiet and deathlike as the buried streets of Pompeii." It is all but certain that a calamity as frightful would now occur were it not for the thoroughness of British government in India, the railway lines of the country, and the energy with which measures of relief are urged forward. Still, the suffering is described as loathsome and incredible; multitudes of famished people are pouring into the cities; the desolate villages are thronged with the dying, and in some places the living are feeding on the dead. "At Madras, to-day," says a correspondent, "more than a score of vessels are unloading bags of rice imported by the government for the famine regions. All along the beach for a mile are heaps of rice bags, piled sometimes twenty feet high. The beach is lined with famine-stricken wretches, who have come in from hundreds of villages, far and near, for the chance of obtaining the little that scatters out of holes in the poorly made bags. Here and there one has a coarse seive, and shovels up the sand and sifts it for grains of rice as for grains of gold. Half clad mothers with their hollow-cheeked children, creep about to gather up a few kernels of rice, their only hope of sustenance." It is a picture of woe that the world, fortunately, does not often look upon. But it is a sad reminder of the fact that our race, with all its boasted power, is at the mercy of the great operation of nature, in conflict with which men perish as the flies of a summer.

THE ACTUAL GUILT.

Though Lee's two confessions are in some respects contradictory, it is natural to suppose that the last one, written in view of death, and when there could have been no motive for falsification or concealment, is better entitled to credit than the first. It is impossible that so atrocious a deed as the wholesale slaughter at Mountain Meadows should have been perpetrated without the knowledge of Brigham Young. He was the head of the Mormon Church, and at the time governor of Utah. It was his duty to punish the crime. On the contrary, he rewarded those who participated in it. Lee personally reported to Young after the massacre, and the latter pretended to have a revelation from heaven approving it. It is not forgotten that during many years all who were marked out for vengeance by the Church authorities were struck down. Such terrible crimes were the fruit of a fanaticism the most relentless. It was easy to impress upon minds under the sway of avarice, ignorance, credulity and religious superstition, that it was quite right for the "people of God" to destroy and despoil "unbelievers." The circumstances leave no manner of doubt that Lee, so far as he was connected with the horrible crime, was under influences of this sort, and that the instigators of this and a multitude of other acts only less shocking because attended by fewer murders, were the Mormon priesthood, at whose head was Brigham Young. The crime was the crime of a system whose authors everybody knows. No attempt to suborn witnesses for their exculpation will avail. The endeavor to distort Lee's confession so as to clear the real criminals is futile. In the eyes of mankind the Mormon leaders are the really guilty ones, and so would be held had Lee not opened his mouth.

GEORGIA REPUDIATES.

Some years ago when Georgia was in the throes of reconstruction, a system of railroads was projected as a means of developing the resources of the State, and helping to restore its wasted energies. Bonds to the amount of twelve and a half million dollars were issued and indorsed by the State. It is asserted that on these bonds seven hundred miles of railroad were built, and that among the resultant benefits was an increase of thirty millions in the taxable property of the State. Latterly a policy has been pursued which is equivalent to repudiation of the debt. Portions of the bonds have been declared invalid, and the State has taken possession of some of the roads built with bonds it has repudiated. After refusing to pay interest and causing the bonds to depreciate to nearly a worthless rate, the State authorities have recently proposed to redeem some of them at the dishonored value, while unqualifiedly repudiating the rest. Most of the bonds, the Times says, are held in New York City by trust companies, savings and other banks and private capitalists, who paid full value for them in reliance upon the general character of Georgia. The Governor of the State has now issued a proclamation to submit to a popular vote an amendment to the State constitution which wipes out a majority of the bonds totally, and all the arrears of interest. Some of the States have been notorious for repudiation heretofore. Mississippi was once a conspicuous instance; but the Times says that the method by which Georgia now appears before the world in connection with the repudiation of several millions of its liabilities has few parallels in infamies of this kind.

A copy of the tenth annual report of the Oregon Children's Aid Society (Salem) has been sent us. The society is one that has become well known, and has twice received an appropriation from the State to aid its work. The object of the institution is to provide a home for orphan and friendless children. It is engaged in doing a work that appeals more than any other to the benevolence and tender sympathies of humanity. The report closes with this appeal "We feel that our work is only just begun. As the population of our State increases there will be much labor to perform and more workers needed. While you may thank God that your children have good homes and loving parents, help us, who are trying to care for the homeless ones, to educate them and lead them to virtuous and noble manhood and womanhood."

An underlying idea of the complications that threaten war in Europe is a vague desire to unite all the nations of the great Slavic race under a single empire. Russia is looked to as the natural leader of the Panslavic movement. The absorption of the Christian provinces of Turkey, which are peopled mostly by Slavs, falls within this idea. It does not take the form of a distinct proposition or an open demand, but is one of those silent, underlying ideas that do much to shape the course of history without appearing as the avowed objects of the movements with which they are connected and which they do much to originate and inspire.

Cleopatra's Needles, at Alexandria, are two columns of stone which were cut and erected in the time of King Thothmes Third in the 16th century B. C. Each is a monolith weighing about two hundred tons. One of them is still standing, and is seventy two feet in height. The other fell very long ago and lies half buried in the sand. It is to be taken to England and erected on a pedestal already prepared for it. An iron cylinder, water-tight, is to be built around it, when it will be pushed into the sea on rollers and floated around to the Thames.

Telegrams received just as we go to press are to the effect that all hopes of the maintenance of peace in Europe have vanished, and the Czar of Russia will issue his war manifesto on Tuesday, the 17th inst.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY

FOR MILL OWNERS AND FLOUR MERCHANTS to secure the services of an experienced Miller, who has discovered a new process by which he can make the finest kind of Flour from any kind of wheat. The undersigned sets forth to those who are engaged in the milling business both in Oregon and Washington Territory, having only arrived in this city on the last steamer from the East, where I have been engaged for years in some of the largest mills in the Union. I will mention one, that of the Croton Mills, New York, owned by Hecker Bros., where I used the process with perfect success for ten years. By way of test to any of those who should be desirous of making an experiment, I will take one hundred bushels of any kind of wheat and guarantee to make a first class article of Flour. If not I will forfeit the price of the grain and all other incidental expenses. I will not make any alterations of any kind in the machinery, but will dress the burrs myself. So therefore, any person wishing to procure my services, or even trying the experiment, will please address N. G. MILLER, Oregonian office. a14d6t

As the date will attest, the paper (of which the subjoined is a correct copy) was filed in the office twenty one years ago last Saturday:

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH, Is Universally Recommended.

We have just received a communication from nearly every druggist in New England and the West, and the testimony is universally in favor of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. We believe there never was a remedy so popular wherever known, and certainly we feel that never was one more deserving of praise. Founded upon correct scientific principles, and calculated by the most accomplished physicians to meet the severest forms of Catarrh, the cures made by it have not only been numerous, but so remarkable as to excite public attention and cause the sale to exceed tenfold that of any similar remedy ever before compounded.

While many are anxious to make public their testimony in favor of the RADICAL CURE, others—and among this number may be found many of our most respected citizens—dislike to become publicly identified with so loathsome a disease. Hence in the following case we are unable to give the name, but are permitted to refer those who may call upon us personally to him, and to state the severity and condition of the case before and after using the RADICAL CURE, and also that the gentleman occupies a responsible office in one of our State institutions. We quote:

"I would not for the world permit my name to be used, although I have no doubt it would be of benefit to many now suffering as I have suffered; but I give you a brief statement of my case: For two years I have taken bromide of potassa and bromide of ammonia every day. I never passed a single night without getting up once or twice to free my throat from the matter that had dropped into it during sleep, and finally I coughed during all this time. Since taking the RADICAL CURE I have taken no potassa or ammonia, have slept soundly every night without uneasiness or distress; not a particle of matter has dropped into my throat during sleep, and every symptom of cough has left me."

A wonderful result truly, all will say who know or can realize the extent and severity of this case. The gentleman has had eighteen bottles. This must satisfy the most sceptical that there is great merit in the RADICAL CURE. Its mode of preparation is new and original. Ignoring the old practices and remedies, Dr. Sanford selected a new field, and has demonstrated his method to be the only proper and never failing treatment.

The following recommendations are from

DRUGGISTS,

Who are competent witnesses to the work it is daily doing.

San ford's Radical Cure has proved the best remedy for relieving Catarrh. W. M. FELLOWS, Haverhill, Mass.

Sanford's Radical Cure is just what the people have been wanting. A. M. GERRY, So. Paris, Me.

I have kept Sanford's Radical Cure on hand since its first introduction, and the sale and satisfaction in its use have been unequalled by any other similar preparation within my knowledge. W. H. WILSON, M.D., Reading, Mass.

I have sold Sanford's Radical Cure for a year or more, and it stands the test the best of any similar remedy I have ever sold. WILL H. OWEN, Milo, Me.

We recommend no other cure, and have no trouble in selling it. L. P. EVANS & CO., Garland, Me.

Sanford's Radical Cure has given universal satisfaction to all my customers, and, above all other remedies, is a success. E. F. CAREY, Haverhill, Mass.

New York Markets and Freights.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Considerable activity continues to be displayed at the wharves of California bound ships. Shipments include most everything that goes to make a California cargo, and include a very large quantity of dry goods. In fact the quantity of dry goods that has been and is still [illegible] of any period in the history of California clipper trade. The cause for these large shipments by this route is found in the fact that irregular rates asked by other routes have been a great source of uncertainty to the merchants, enabling some on one day to ship at a certain price, and others on the day following to ship at a less rate, and thus to avoid being compelled to pay irregular rates. Dry goods shippers have been sending for some months and propose to [illegible] the great bulk of their freight by [illegible] and thus get a fair and equal rate, and at the same time keep a large line of goods on the way overland. Wheat is held at 1@2 higher, influenced by much stronger markets reported by cable and alarming rumors of political advices from Europe. Wool continues to move slowly, and the market presents nothing worthy of extended notice.

English Grain Markets.

LIVERPOOL, April 13.—A leading grain circular says the steadily growing advance in wheat, based on considerations distinct from political, and progressing even upon the [illegible] instead of warlike anticipations which prevailed, has now, when there appeared [illegible] of a peaceful solution of [illegible] still more decided. The week commences with prices 1s per qr higher; afterwards [illegible] an advance of 2s [illegible] in many leading places of the Kingdom, accompanied with a large amount of business both for consumption and speculation. The same features and transactions would have been more important but for a disinclination of holders to offer freely. Maize was also excited at an advance. At this market to-day there was good attendance of local and country millers and [illegible] and moderate business was done for [illegible] at 2d advance on white wheat and 3d on red wheat. [illegible] was 1s per sack dearer. Corn was taken to a [illegible] extent at gradually rising prices, the market closing 1s 6d per qr higher than on Tuesday.
